Governor Declares Attorney General "Actuated by Cheap Politics"

DENIES STATEMENT

Recommends Official Take Charges To Grand Jury.

Columbus, Oct. 5.—Governor Donahey has recommended that Attorney General Crabbe take his charges against John McNamara, assistant state welfare director, to the Delaware County grand jury for investigation. The governor, replying to the attorney general's latest statement, accused him of being actuated by "cheap politics." The governor refused to investigate the claims of Attorney General Crabbe that McNamara was guilty of moral turpitude and other misconduct while assistant superintendent of the Girls' Industrial School, Delaware.

The governor also denied that the attorney general's statement, made Thursday that 204 inmates had escaped in the last three months, Governor Donahey said 116 run aways had occurred, and that all but seven of these girls have been returned.

Th fact that two different state boards of administration and a Republican Governor (Harry L. Davis) retained McNamara after he submitted his resignation, is a fair indication that nothing was wrong with McNamara's administration, the governor said.

Columbus, Oct. 5.—Attorney General Crabbe renewed his demand on Governor Donahey for an investigation of the charges filed against Assistant State Welfare Director John McNamara. Charges against McNamara were filed by Crabbe with the governor Aug. 30. No action has been taken since then by the governor.

Crabbe in his second letter says: "Conditions at the Girls' Industrial school have become so deplorable that I am urged by many to again call your attention to this matter, with the hope that you will realize how serious the situation is and do something for the unfortunate girls of this institution."

McNamara, as assistant welfare director, has had direct charge of the school since Mrs. Mae E. Stannard, former matron, was removed from office, and pending appointment of a new matron.

Crabbe charged that since McNamara took over management of the institution, "cruel methods of punishment have again been resorted to" and that because of "horrible conditions obtaining" there have been 204 escapes from the institution.

STOKES INDICTED ON CHARGES OF SERIOUS NATURE

Chicago, Oct. 5.—W. E. D. Stokes, aged and rich New York traction and hotel power, and six other persons were indicted today on charges of having conspired to defame the reputation of his wife, Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes. The indictments were returned before Criminal Court Judge Caverly.

In addition to Stokes, his lawyer, Daniel F. Nugent and five others were indicted. All are charged with conspiracy to blacken the name of Stokes' wife.

Steps were taken at once by the state's attorney office to have issued warrants for the arrest of Stokes, Nugent and the others. A request will be made to Gov. Small to obtain their extradition.

MINISTERS ATTEND LUNCHEON THURSDAY

Several Greene County Methodist Episcopal ministers and their wives, attended a luncheon given at the St. Paul Methodist Episcopal Church, at Springfield, Thursday. The Rev. T. W. Grose, of Springfield, was in charge of the affair which was given for the purpose of acquainting the ministers with one another.

Following the luncheon, a social hour was enjoyed, after which Dr. E. R. Fulkerson, of Chicago, world traveler, gave an interesting address on his experiences in foreign lands.

The Greene County group was composed of the Rev. and Mrs. H. F. Andrews, Brownsville; the Rev. and Mrs. B. E. Stevens, Cedarville; the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Bennett, Jamestown; the Rev. and Mrs. C. N. Smith, New Jasper; the Rev. and Mrs. G. A. Scott, Xenia; the Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Whitmer, Yellow Springs and the Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Howard of Osborn.

MILLIONAIRE LEAVES PART OF FORTUNE TO WOMAN FENCING INSTRUCTOR

Mrs. E. B. Cass and James J. Van Alen

Under the terms of the will of the late James J. Van Alen multi-millionaire, formerly of Newport, R. I., who died in England, $100,000 is bequeathed to Mrs. Eleanor Baldwin Cass, of Medford, Mass., a fencing expert, because of the physical benefit he derived from her teaching as a fencing master. Mr. Van Alen, a member of one of the wealthiest and oldest families in America, moved to England when prohibition went into effect, not that he was a drinking man, but to show his indignation over what he termed an infringement on his personal liberties.

SOCIALISTS TO LOSE FIGHT IN GERMAN CABINET

Stresemann Seeks Far-
Reaching Powers in
His Activities

Berlin, Oct. 5.—The Socialists will be thrown overboard in the new German cabinet.

It also appears most likely that Dr. Stresemann will try to return at the head of a small cabinet, clothed with almost dictatorial power, and that the reichstag will be sent about its business.

The provisional list of the new cabinet as it stands at this time is: Chancellor and foreign minister, Dr. Stresemann; defense and interior, Dr. Hugo Gessler; labor, Herr Brauns; finance and economics, Dr. Hans Luther; food administrator, Von Oppen; posts and railways, Herr Heinrichs.

Von Oppen is chairman of the union of agriculturists and stands near to the German Nationalists. Heinrichs is general director of the Deutsche Werke and a noted organizer.

As soon as his list is complete Stresemann plans to submit it to the reichstag, without consulting any of the parties, and request the passage of a law conferring far-reaching powers on the new cabinet. Such a law would be equivalent to amending the constitution and hence would require a two-thirds vote.

The Socialists and Communists together could block such a vote, but Stresemann believes he has secured the virtual assurance of 54 Socialists, who refused to vote against him Wednesday, that they will refrain from voting. This would assure the passage of the dictatorship law, which he will ask.

Whatever the outcome, one thing is certain: The political tide nearly everywhere in Germany is setting strongly to the right. This is due in part to the growing feeling that German parliamentarism has failed, and in part to the uncompromising adherence by the Socialists to their dogmas. The attitude of the Socialists is largely dictated by the realization that a surrender of their principles would cause many of their numbers to flee to the Communists.

In view of the fact that only 115 of the total of 173 Socialists in the reichstag voted Wednesday and the majority against the cabinet was only seven, efforts were made toward a reconstitution of the former coalition. The Socialists balked entirely. The People's party also objected, since the strong statement in their ranks is for participation in the government by the German Nationalists.

Bavaria's uncompromising declaration of war on Marxism has plainly strengthened the war on socialism everywhere. It is learned that there is increasing sentiment in Wurtemberg for a new cabinet, with Nationalists and without Socialists, and possibly also without Democrats.

LITTLE STIR IS CREATED BY NEWS

London, Oct. 5.—Newspapers took the news of Ambassador Harvey's retirement calmly. It apparently created no great impression here.

The colonel has made a great many friends in London but in the main he has been too outspoken to become a great popular figure with the English as was the late Walter Hines Page.

It is even probable that high officials of the British government are rather secretly pleased at the going of the picturesque colonel. Some of the Colonel's methods of diplomacy have merited the description of "rough shod," so much so that the English would welcome an ambassador from the United States, who would not tread so heavily upon custom and precedent.

LYDD GEORGE IS GIVEN ROUSING WELCOME TO U. S.

New York, Oct. 5.—A distinguished tourist, Hon. David Lloyd George, M. P. landed upon the American shore at noon today and received a welcome such as has been given by Americans to no commoner.

All along the route Lloyd George stood, waving his tall hat, smiling his infectious smile in response to the greetings.

From early morning when the Mauritania anchored off quarantine, Lloyd George was the center of a pushing throng and the object of honor.

"I am here to see America and the Americans," Lloyd George said in his first statement for the people of the United States.

"I bring no messages. I have no questions to propound or discuss. To do that would be presumptuous of me. I hope to see the country and to talk to the people."

"And," he added a bit wistfully, "I hope they will like me."

The photographers found him and over the protests of his special representative Sir Alfred Cope, and one of two others of the nobility in his party, rushed him up a steep ladder to the upper deck where he posed for numerous "stills" and hundreds of feet of movies.

Dame Margaret Lloyd George, his wife and Miss Megan Lloyd George, his daughter, then posed for the camera men and it is doubtful if they ever before received so many orders.

"Smile Mr. Lloyd George—take off your hat—step over here please—just one more shot. These and a dozen other commands were met by the distinguished trio while the former premier of the British empire was with the reporters word was brought that the municipal steamship Macon with the mayor's committee of welcome had arrived alongside.

CEMETERY OFFICERS ARE ALL ELECTED

All directors and officers of the Woodland Cemetery Association have been re-elected.

M. A. Broadstone, C. E. Arbogast and D. E. Anderson were re-elected directors by the lot owners to succeed themselves. Officers of the board were re-elected at a meeting held Thursday night. They are: Judge H. L. Smith, president; M. A. Broadstone, vice president; D. E. Anderson, secretary and M. L. Wolf, treasurer.

Near Riot Makes Prize Fight as Referee Falters

Columbus, Ga., Oct. 5.—Fight fans here had blood in their eyes today.

They saw their "boy wonder of the south," "Young" Stribling, fight Mike McTigue for the world's light heavyweight championship here Thursday afternoon. They heard Referee Harry Ertle call the bout a draw.

After a threatening demonstration they were informed that "in view of the unanimous opinion of the press," the decision had been changed; that "Young" Stribling won. Today after a night of exultation, these same fans found that again the decision had been changed and that the two battlers fought to a draw.

Ertle declared he was "intimidated" by promoters of the fight and that he would never have left the ring alive had he not awarded victory to the 19-year-old boy. He charged that one of the leading promoters freed him to hold up Stribling's hand as conqueror.

The fight was a poor exhibition of championship material and the challenger led easily in eight of the ten rounds. Ertle said "Stribling is a good fighter and a return battle would easily settle the argument." But Joe Jacobs and McTigue left town too quickly to figure on the proposed fight.

When the gong announced the end of the fight Ertle slightly raised both hands and rushed toward the ropes in an attempt to make a quick exit. He never left the platform as an angry growl went up from the thousands who saw the battle.

The handful of military police and city officers surrounding the ring were unable to keep the mob back. Ertle found himself surrounded on all sides by enraged fans demanding that he give the decision to Stribling.

The ring then was cleared long enough for a conference with the press. A vote gave a unanimous decision to the challenger and a formal announcement was made that "our boy has won."

The crowd was satisfied.

"Young" Stribling, at the end of the final round, broke loose from a clinch with McTigue and watched the referee for his decision. When he heard it was a draw the school boy fell back against the rope with tears in his eyes. He then sat in his corner until the second change was made.

As he crawled through the ropes heralded as a "new champion," his mother was awaiting with "how are you, darling?"

"All right, mother, but looked like I wasn't going to get it, didn't it?"

McTigue left the ring as soon as possible after fight and did not make another appearance.

Monday will find "Strib" back in high school busy with his studies, as though nothing unusual had happened. He lost only one week in training for his, his greatest battle.

In the meantime local promoters have wired the New York boxing commission asking for an immediate investigation regarding Ertle, well known Jersey City referee; McTigue, and his manager, Jacobs. The telegram stated that 8,000 fans are declaring that the boy was winner.

DEMAND ARREST IN WEBB CASE; AWAIT REPORT

Fight is Carried to Governor by Friends of Dead Woman

New York, Oct. 5.—The fight for an arrest in the death of Mrs. Gertie Gorman Webb, who is said to have been poisoned, has been carried to Albany by friends of the dead woman, who will ask Governor Smith to intervene in the investigation.

The friends of Mrs. Webb base their action on the fact that they claim Mrs. Webb, after she had been told she was dying, had made a statement that she had been poisoned and named the person who had given her the poison.

It is said that when Dr. William J. Meyer told Mrs. Webb she was dying she called to her the woman nurse, Mrs. Robert F. Johnstone, a friend since girlhood, and Dr. Meyer and in their presence made the statement she had been poisoned. It is held by legal advisers of the friends of the dead woman that this constituted a binding dying declaration within the intent of the law and that an arrest should follow. If the district attorney of Westchester county does not order an arrest, Governor Smith will be asked to act, as he did in the Ward case, they said.

The governor said he thought it was going to be a too common practice, the asking of the state to intervene in cases where the district attorney is empowered to act, but that he would take up the matter with Mrs. Webb's relatives and friends.

The complete report of Dr. Alexander Gettler, who examined the viscera of Mrs. Webb, and discovered traces of poison, will be given to the Westchester county grand jury probably Monday, when it will be made public. His examination so far has revealed poison, but not enough to have caused death.

It was announced also that Dr. Meyer, Mrs. Johnstone, Judge and Mrs. John F. McIntyre, George Taylor, A. B. Edgar, Francis Irwin, Dr. Ernest F. Krug and Dr. Davenport West, all of New York, will be called as witnesses before the grand jury. "I want every possible witness to give every possible fact about this peculiar case to the grand jury," District Attorney Rowland said.

TAFT EXPLAINS TAX ACT UP FOR VOTE

Taft of Cincinnati, at a meeting of the Roosevelt Republican club here. Purpose of the Taft bill, its author said, are: Restriction of the high cost of government by limiting expenditures; intelligent restriction of expenditures through budget control; a pay-as-you-go plan with respect to incurring public debts; a wider home rule as to current

MACHINE GUNS POUR FIRE INTO PRISON

TENDER THEIR RESIGNATIONS

The State Department announced Thursday that Mr. Harvey and Mr. Child, Ambassadors to Great Britain and Italy, respectively, had tendered their resignations.

William Phillips Under Secretary of State, announced that both resignations were in accord with an understanding reached with President Harding and indicated that there was no connection between them and anything that has taken place during the Coolidge administration.

In other words, it was said that both Ambassadors would have returned to the United States under the agreement they had with the former Chief Executive.

HARVEY'S LOVE OF POLITICS CAUSED HIS RESIGNATION

London, Oct. 5.—The outstanding motive behind the retirement of Colonel George Harvey as ambassador to the Court of St. James is his desire to be on the ground and have a hand in the pre-convention jockeying that will precede the selection of a Republican nominee for the presidency next year. His friends here have no doubt this.

When he returned from the United States a few weeks ago, Colonel Harvey was accompanied by Will H. Hays, director of the Harding campaign and the two have spent much time in going over the political situation that has developed since the death of Mr. Harding.

Both Harvey and Hays, it is said, are inclined to believe President Coolidge is the logical Republican candidate but thus far they have not committed themselves and in all probability will not do so for some time yet. They are more fearful of a split in the party than of any other one thing.

Three months' vacation at home, during which "Colonel" Harvey saw and conferred with many leading Republicans, convinced him that some careful diplomacy would be required if the Republican party is to escape an internal row that might be fatal to its chances of success next year.

BEETHAM IS YET SILENT ON RACE

Cadiz, O., Oct. 5.—Rupert R. Beetham, former speaker of the Ohio house of representatives, is undecided whether he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor next year. This was indicated in a statement given out here in which he commented on the possibilities for the 1924 race. He was a candidate for the Republican nomination in 1922.

NO EXPENSE TO BE SPARED TO EVICT FELONS

Convicts Surrounded By
Hail of Bullets in Kentucky Prison

BELIEVE TWO DEAD

Additional Troops Re-In-force Units Storming
Hall.

State Penitentiary, Eddyville, Ky., Oct. 5.—State militiamen trying to capture three barricaded convicts with showers of machine gun bullets were preparing this forenoon to lay down a barrage under cover of which several men were to creep up with dynamite to tumble down the building where the felons were entrenched. The dynamite has already arrived.

Staff Penitentiary, Eddyville, Ky., Oct. 5.—"Spare no expense or property damage," was the message of Governor Morrow which came today with additional national guard troops to the battle now in its third day against three desperate felons barricaded in the dining room of the prison. The building has been seived by machine gun fire in the effort to rout the slayers.

One of the embattled trio in the bullet ridden dining hall of the penitentiary—the one who ventured to the door at dusk last night and then dodged back before a burst of machine gun fire poured into the doorway—was believed holding out the siege alone at dawn today.

His companions are believed to have fallen before the relentless machine gun attack which has been pouring into them for forty-eight hours from four corners of the prison enclosure, making a war scarred pepper box of the dining hall and opening holes in its walls through which tear gas attacks will be renewed today.

Additional state troops from Mayfield today re-inforced the machine gun troops originally assigned to the prison after three guards' lives were claimed in the convicts' attempt to shoot their way to freedom Wednesday morning. One guard was killed outright, two died yesterday from their wounds. Two other wounded guards are expected to recover.

Eddyville is in a frenzy of excitement. The tattoo of the machine gun fire has beaten in recurrent waves for more than two days on their ears. The prison is a mile from town, but the roar of the fire has been plainly audible.

It was rumored today that a request might be made for army tanks, which could be sent to the door of the dining hall and an even heavier attack could be launched from the fighting tops of the cumbersome moving forts.

The resistance of the trio has dwindled to an occasional pater of bullets from automatic pistols, in return to the pattering of the machine gunners.

TAGGART WELL

Boston, October 5.—Thomas Taggart, former Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, who was brought to a hospital here last month after being taken ill at his summer home in Hyannisport, left the hospital yesterday. Accompanied by Mrs. Taggart, he boarded a train for New York where he plans to stay for several days before leaving for his home in French Lick Springs, Ind. He said he was "perfectly well."

WOMEN NEARLY PRECIPITATE RIOT

New York, Oct. 5.—A near riot occurred today in a crowd of about 3,000 persons grouped about City Hall to await the arrival of David Lloyd George, when a delegation of about fifty women appeared with printed signs attacking the ex-Premier and British policies.

Police tore the signs from the women's hands and dispersed them, but not before there was a general melee in which a number of persons were bruised and scratched.

The women bore placards identifying them as members of "American Society for freedom."

FALL FROM WAGON RESULTS FATALLY

H. H. Dice returned home Wednesday from Greenville where he was in attendance at the funeral services for his cousin, Edward Spahr, which were held Tuesday at the home in Greenville. Mr. Spahr, who was formerly a resident of this city and was well known here, was killed when he fell from a wagon on which he was riding. His neck was broken and death was almost instantaneous. He had turned the wagon out to the side of the road in passing an automobile and in turning the wagon back onto the road he lost his balance and fell to the ground.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Laura Fields and by five grand children. Mrs. Field's husband was killed in the cyclone which struck Greenville a few years ago and since that time she and her children had made their home with her father.

Mr. Spahr was born and reared in this county and made his home here until about twenty years ago when he moved to Greenville. He has a large circle of relatives in this county.

FANNING CONCERT PLEASES LARGE CROWD

Xenia music lovers were afforded a rare treat Thursday evening when Mr. Cecil Fanning, Columbus baritone, appeared in concert at the City Hall Theater.

Possessed of a truly beautiful voice and a most pleasing personality, Mr. Fanning won his hearers with his first group of songs and was able to hold the appreciation which they elicited throughout his entire program.

Perhaps the greatest enthusiasm was accorded the group of French folk songs which were charmingly sung. Attired in the smock of a French working man, Mr. Fanning gave free scope to his really remarkable dramatic ability and delighted his hearers by the sympathy and spirit with which he rendered the quaint old songs.

The two ballads, "Tom the Rhymer" and "The Erlking," both with musical settings by Loewe, also afforded Mr. Fanning opportunity to display his dramatic ability, his interpretation of "The Erlking," being truly remarkable. Less familiar to most hearers probably than the Schubert setting, the Loewe interpretation of Goethe's well-known ballad is gripping in its intensity of feeling and this Mr. Fanning brought to his hearers in a remarkable manner.

Mr. Fanning's voice possesses much sweetness and delicacy as well as great volume of tone and he sings with a great accuracy of pitch. His fine enunciation was a most pleasing feature of his singing and added greatly to the very varied program.

Mr. H. B. Turpin, formerly Mr. Fanning's teacher, played his accompaniments in a very sympathetic manner and added greatly to the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Norris, who celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary last Saturday, were the principals in another ceremony, Thursday night, when the members of Phoenix Rebekah Lodge, No. 74, arranged a delightful program in their honor at the lodge hall, featured by re-marriage of the honor guests.

Seventy members of the lodge and their families, witnessed the "wedding." Mrs. A. C. McCormick acted as matron of honor, attired in white and carrying a huge bouquet of yellow zinnias, tied with yellow ribbon. She led the "bride" to the altar, attended by Mrs. D. E. Crow, Mrs. Fred Snyder, Mrs. B. F. Thomas, and Mrs. E. R. Richards, acting as bridesmaids. Mrs. C. V. Patterson came next, bearing the lodge's gift to the bride, a set of golden iridescent glass, consisting of a flower bowl, candle holders, with golden candles.

The bridal "procession" was met at the altar, by the officiating "clergyman" Mr. D. E. Crow, who performed a unique and humorous ceremony, pledging the couple with a metal ring, placed on the thumb of the bride. Mrs. Russell Halstead played the wedding march.

After the wedding, Mrs. Norris took the part of the principal character, in a clever playlet, "The Initiation of Virginia." Mrs. H. W. Cleaver, Mrs. C. V. Patterson, Mrs. Fred Snyder, and Mrs. A. C. McCormick took other parts in the playlet.

The evening's program opened with a covered dish dinner at six o'clock.

NOBLER WORDS THAN THESE WERE SELDOM SPOKEN.

The following address was delivered at the opening session of the annual convention of the American Red Cross in Washington by President Coolidge:

The American Red Cross is a modern application of an ancient principle. The idea of charity is very old. It is included in the teachings of the earliest philosophers. It is one of the fundamental doctrines of our Bible. It is a spiritual conception of human relationship. It is life in obedience to the things that are unseen.

Throughout history men have been prone to put their trust in other things and have failed. They have sought for power through material resources alone. They have thought it might be gained by the accumulation of great riches. They have attempted to rely upon the naked force of armies and navies, conquering by the might of the sword. But these forces are not the ultimate rulers of mankind. They are necessary for security, as police and criminal courts, and bolts and bars are necessary. They are adjuncts of peace. But they are negative forces. They do not create, they resist. They are not the ultimate force in the world. They do not make the final determinations among men. Over them all is a higher power.

Mankind has not yet, can not yet, discard the use of these forces. It is significant, however, that the great nations have at last agreed upon their limitation. But it is even more significant that civilization is coming to rely more and more upon moral force. It is because the Red Cross has been a practical application of that principle, that it has been such a tremendous success. It makes its appeal for support directly to the conscience of mankind. It does not attempt to function through the direct action of organized government. It does not have in it any element of compulsion. It is the voluntary offering of the people themselves. Whenever and wherever an emergency has resulted in human suffering, to the extent of its ability it administers whatever may be necessary for temporary relief.

It is in this direction that there lies the hope of real progress. The ancient ideals of human brotherhood, of service, the application of the golden rule, of peace on earth and good will toward men, are idle dreams, unless they can be translated into practical action. It is necessary, on the one hand, to avoid the illusions of the visionaries, and on the other hand, the indifference of the selfish. Individuals and nations owe their first duty to themselves. Beyond that, there is the obligation of the strong to serve the weak, but to administer such service in a way that will not destroy or degrade by making mendicants, but will restore and strengthen by making character. It is the policy which helps in an emergency, but realizes that, finally, each individual and each nation must work out its own destiny.

The constant need of civilization is for a practical idealism of this kind. It does not attempt to perform the impossible. It does not seek to reform merely by an act of legislation, thinking that it can unload its burden on the government and be relieved from further effort. It does not undertake to assume responsibility for all humanity. But it realizes that redemption comes only through sacrifice. When a crisis arises, it does not hesitate to go out and make whatever sacrifice is necessary to master the occasion.

It is this kind of practical idealism that is represented in the history of our country, a deep faith in spiritual things, tempered by a hard common sense adapted to the needs of this world. It has been illustrated in the character of the men who planted colonies in the wilderness and raised up great states around the church and the schoolhouse, who bought their independence with their blood and cast out slavery by the sacrifice of their bravest sons; who offered their lives to give more freedom to oppressed peoples; and who went to the rescue of Europe with their treasure and their men when their own liberty and the liberty of the world was in peril, but when the victory was secure, retired from the field unencumbered by spoils, independent, unattached and unbought, still continuing to contribute lavishly to the relief of the stricken and destitute of the Old World; and who, but recently, being asked for five million dollars, immediately gave about twice that amount for the afflicted people of Japan. Such has been the moral purpose that has marked the conduct of our country up to the present hour. The American people have never adopted, and are not likely to adopt, any other course.

A contemplation of these principles and the works which they have wrought, both in our country and among the other nations for this spirit is world-wide is helpful and reassuring. They are among the convincing evidences that justify our faith in mankind. They reveal the fundamental strength of civilization. They demonstrate the supremacy of the spiritual life.

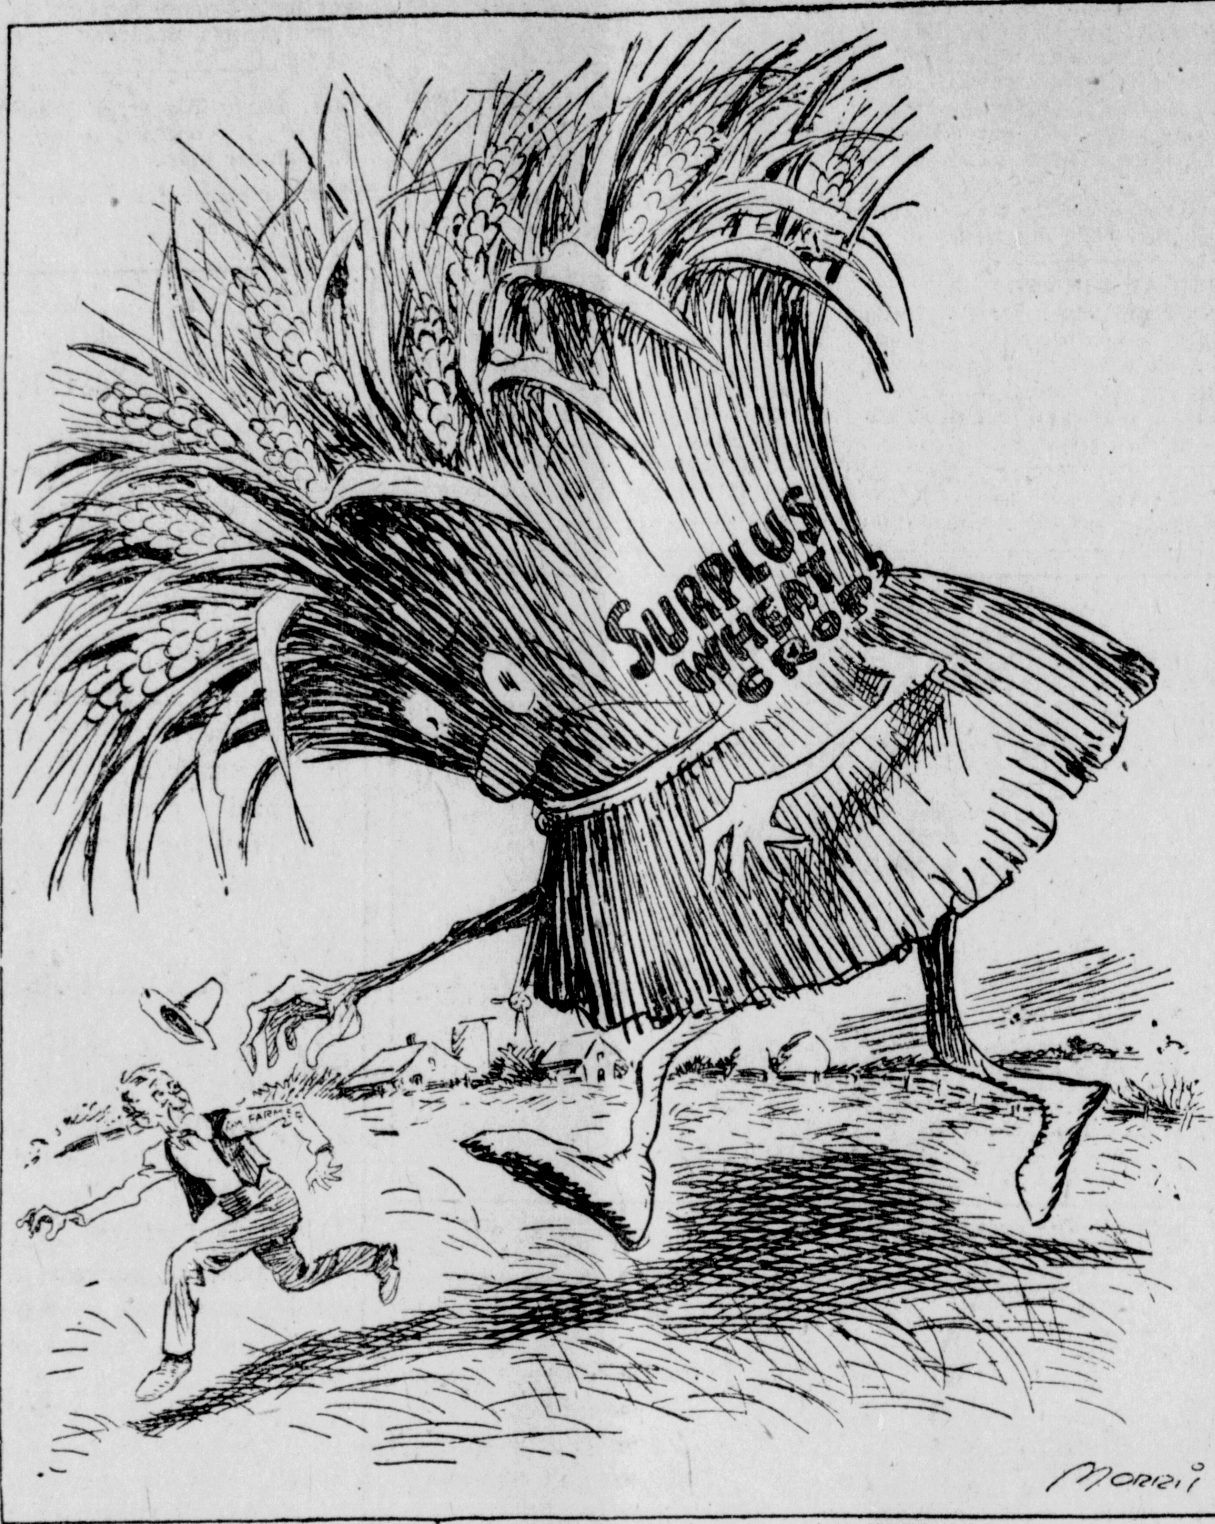

Here we behold the race struggling up through barbarism, overcoming ignorance, establishing order, instituting government, painfully working out its own destiny under free institutions, acknowledging and accepting the truths of religion, gradually casting aside selfishness, endowing the great charities which heal the body, inform the mind and minister to the soul, making on every hand unending sacrifices that the truth may be supreme. Such is the strength of the influence of which this organization is one of the representatives. It is inconceivable that it could have come thus far only to retreat, that it could have succeeded up to the present time only to fail.

These are the encouraging, the hopeful things of the world. While it is necessary to admit that progress has been slow, that there have been, and undoubtedly will be, many disheartening failures, I believe the conclusion to be inescapable that there is every warrant for confidence. The encouraging feature of these results lies in the fact that they come from the voluntary actions of the people. They are not mandates from privilege, they are not imposed from without; they arise from within, they disclose the conquering, the victorious struggle of a higher nature. They do not represent a law of man, they reveal a law of God.

It is for these reasons that I take a large satisfaction in extending a welcome to this convention and acting as its presiding officer. I respect it for what it has done and what it is.

I am mindful of its purpose and its origin. This organization had its beginnings in the day of Abraham Lincoln. It is representative of the dominant influence of his time. It partakes of his spirit. It shows the way to a larger freedom. Our country could secure no higher commendation, no greater place in history, than to have it correctly said that the Red Cross is truly American.

The list of bids for supplies at the O. S. and S. O. Home opened Sept. 19, have been tabulated and show that some close figuring has been done, especially in groceries. For example, Haves and Co., was allowed the contract on granulated

It is "Chief" McCallister this week. Chief of Police Smith is spending a week at Camp at Jacoby's dam and officer McCallister is acting chief in his absence.

Cut up fine, sprinkle with salt, and let stand overnight. In the morning pour cold water over the mixture and drain well. Then add one quart of vinegar, let boil till tender, then add three cups of sugar, one-half cup of flour, six tablespoons of mustard, one tablespoon each of tumeric and celery seed, one teaspoon of mustard seed and one pint more of vinegar, and let cook for ten minutes longer, stirring to prevent scorching.

PAYING FOR THE HOME

"Up to two years ago my money all went to doctors and medicine for my stomach trouble. I was constantly filled with gas and no medicine helped me permanently until I tried a bottle of May's Wonderful Remedy at that time with excellent results. Now I am using my money in paying for a home." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sayre & Hemphill and druggists everywhere. adv

Seal at once in hot, sterilized glass jars. Here is another fine recipe: "Peach Marmalade: Cut into small pieces the rind of one orange. Add to it the juice and pulp of four oranges and cook over mild heat till the rind is tender. Then add four pounds of peaches cut small (skins and stones removed) and let the mixture boil for a few minutes. Now measure it by cupfuls and add to it an equal measurement of granulated sugar. Return all to the preserving kettle and let boil till thick, stirring frequently. Can while still hot in hot, sterilized glass jars.—W. H."

"Green Tomato Preserve: This is a good way to use up the little left-over green tomatoes found in almost every garden at the end of summer. Cut them in half and then into small pieces. Weigh and for each pound of the tomatoes add three-quarters of a pound of granulated sugar and one lemon thinly sliced. Put the sugar first into the preserving kettle with only just enough cold water to dissolve it, then add the tomatoes and lemons and let come to a boil; simmer gently till the tomatoes are transparent and the sirup thick. Seal at once in hot, sterilized glass jars. Our family likes this preserve better than any other.—Mrs. Mc L." "Bordeaux Sauce: (Fine to serve

Just Folks

by Edgar A. Guest

EXPERIENCE

When you are married there's one thing to do
If you're a peace-loving man
And a family jar is distressing to you;
Fall in with things she will plan.
If she asks in to dinner some folks you detest,
Just smile and be pleasant—You'll find it is best.

If she gets up a family picnic some day,
Which you'd rather she wouldn't, no doubt,
Don't try to persuade her you can't get away,
That good old excuse is worn out; It is better without any fuss to give in.
Just carry the baskets she'll hand you, and grin.

If to dances or operas or lectures on art
She proclaims her intention to go, Don't argue against it—Get ready to start,
Say "yes" when she's looking for "no."
If you want to keep peace with the wife of your dreams,
Go where she wills howe'er painful it seems.

For most of us married men, early or late,
From experience learn to submit.
We martyr ourselves when the wife makes a date.
And do what we don't like a bit; For the sake of sweet peace we have ceased to protest.
We fall in with her plans for we've found it is best.

Today's Talk

You can't hurry past beauty and take much of it with you. Neither can you reach into a heart and just take therefrom samples of love or affection, loyalty, or devotion. You must give much, you must drink deep into truth, nature, character, or else you have to expect a loss of richness and understanding. As you look about you, life may appear very confused, but there is no confusion in nature. The trees or flowers are never in any special hurry to perform their tasks. They are given their special work to do and then patiently perform it.

How restful to sit beside a bed of wild daisies, or on the bank of some stream that ripples restfulness and beauty beneath the hangings of thick branches that wave in the wind and whisper to you as you play with their shadows across the moving waters.

Really to gain power from the out-of-doors you must come into its spirit and become a part of it. You must drink deep from its spring.

And to gain from any gift you must drink deep of its meaning. "The gift without the giver," says Lowell, "is bare."

In a way you must live the book you read, the painting you view, the scene that you select.

Someone has said that nothing is worth while without enthusiasm. Which is just another way of saying that we must drink deep of life itself and then rise from our refreshment to spread service far and wide.

It was Thoreau, I believe, who said that he would rather have a bird light on his shoulder than to have an epaulette placed there. This remarkable man drank deep. He gave new standing to rocks, birds, wild fowls, and every natural being.

Women
to attract must
Radiate Health!

BEAUTY is the magnet which draws all eyes—and back o beauty—Health—working silently—Red blood tingling through the veins—the glow of youth in the cheeks—the spring of eagerness, of vim, o vitality in the walk—the ever graceful air, unrestrained by care or worry—All the charms of beauty. All the works of health.

Men are fascinated by the charms of beauty. Women gaze with envy secretly jealous, perhaps—wondering—hoping—praying for that attractiveness that is not theirs.

But why the wondering—the hoping—the praying for that craved-for attractiveness—that beauty. Good looks is the barometer of one's condition. Good health radiates beauty. S. S. S. purifies the blood—creates new red blood cells—rids the system of impurities which make beauty and attractiveness impossible. As women to attract must radiate health so must they keep their systems free from impurities and their red blood cells ever increasing. S. S. S. does both.

S. S. S., since 1828, has been ridding the system of impurities—pimples, blackheads, boils, eczema and rheumatism—building red blood cells—aiding women to be attractive by radiating health. S. S. ## Grid-Dust

By Ray Higgins

This story concerns the promising aspects of a boy who is playing on the Central High School football squad. It is designed to honor a lad who believes in giving his best in the game or in practice, who plays hard and fiercely all of the time and whose ability so far gives assurance that he will help to make gridiron history at Central High School during the seasons to come.

The player who is thus being honored is Fred Scurry, who is so far performing at left tackle for Coach Earl Burgner's blue and white eleven, and who is doing his job well. Scurry is well built, but well constructed for speed, of which he makes excellent use. He runs well with the ball when called to a backfield position and can punt fairly.

He has large hands has Scurry, and perhaps if football players were permitted to select their natural accoutrements for the game, large hands would not be far down on the list. Scurry's large hands enable him to get such a grip on the ball, that he can throw the usually unwieldy leather as skilfully as a baseball for 50 yards or more.

The large hands also enable Scurry to play his position in the manner and form that it should be played. With his huge hands, which he keeps in action and the wonderful driving power he has back of them, he is enabled to brush the opposing end out of his way in crashing into a play. He is ever alert to sense which way the ball is going and frequently gets his man on the opposite side of the line.

And so this is the story of Scurry, but the best of the story has not been told. It is this: Scurry is only a sophomore.

If Coach Gauthier of Ohio Wesleyan has anything up his sleeve this season fans will be in on the know after the game with Ohio State, Saturday.

It is whispered about the Ohio Conference that the Methodist gang will not be the soft spot some of the other teams have rated it. Conference rulings and graduation played havoc with the Wesleyan championship eleven of last year and it is undoubted that the graduation of Captain Olin Smith, and Ballinger and the ruling against "Sonny" Winters, his brother and other luminaries, greatly hurt the Methodists.

However, it is said Gauthier has developed another startling combination, depending on a weighty line, and a small, but fast backfield. A practically all the backfield men are veterans, more can be expected from Wesleyan than the poor mouth the Methodists have been putting up would indicate. If this is a fact it will be shown against the Wilkesmen Saturday.

It is conceivable however that Miami and Wittenberg will furnish the home stretch thrill for the Conference this year. If that is to be the case, a line on the relative merits of these teams may be gathered Saturday. Miami beat Georgetown, Ky., four touchdowns last week and the Lutherans met the same team this week end. Wittenberg will have no trouble with Georgetown, but the score should furnish an interesting sidelight. Miami will be idle, the Antioch game having been cancelled.

Nether of these teams need expect much opposition from northern Ohio aggregations. Coach Holtcamp's second year at Western Reserve finds that team still living on the memories of past grandeur. Case is in the same boat. Wooster's victory over Ashland did not boost the stock of the Presbyterians any, and proves they will have a tough battle on their hands in Otterbein, which team defeated Defiance 27 to 0. Hiram, should have considerable difficulty also with Kenyon, and the Episcopalians stand a good chance to win. Akron, of course, will have no trouble with Kent Normal, but the Akronites will not be able to prove anything by a victory.

Mt. Union, defeated by Slippery Rock Normal last week, will meet Adrian, Michigan and should win while Hillsdale, Mich., invades Ohio to temper Coach Livingston's Denison boys for the Ohio Conference racket. Case will go to Michigan for its annual trimming this week end while Toledo plays Ypsilanti at Toledo.

Dayton University will take on its toughest home game foe in Duquesne at Pittsburgh. Wilmington will go to Lafayette, Ind., for a game with Purdue. Western Conference eleven and Cleveland U. will play Findlay, the team that Cedarville defeated last week. Cedarville will step out in faster company with a game with Earlham at Richmond, while Bowling Green plays Heidelberg. Broadus meets Marietta and Cincinnati meets Kentucky State. St. Xavier's will have little difficulty with Kentucky Normal while Muskingum meets Western Reserve.

EAST HIGH GRID CHANCES AIDED BY NEW EQUIPMENT

Football at East High School, now being introduced as a new school sport, has been giving impetus by the donation of gridiron equipment valued at $100, according to announcement of Principal Arthur Taylor.

Superintendent of Schools C. A. Waltz, Business Manager John R. Beacham, J. W. Santmyer, president of the Board of Education, H. S. LeSourd, of the board's athletic committee and George Geyer of the Geyer Book Store, made possible the donation of uniforms and other paraphernalia necessary.

Among the equipment donated was a new football for the team's first game.

The school hopes to put out its first football team this fall, and Lloyd Lewis, a faculty member from Kansas City, is coaching the newly formed squad. The team was greatly handicapped by the lack of equipment, until the donation was arranged for. The five donors appeared at an assembly at East High Thursday afternoon when the donation was announced and the school expressed its thanks.

Coach Lewis is attempting to round his team into shape for the game with Wilberforce Academy about Oct. 15.

PROPOSE TO PLACE EAST END FOOTBALL TEAM IN THE FIELD

Organization of an all-colored independent football team is now being attempted and plans for the new eleven will be laid at a meeting of players at Dickerson Park Sunday morning.

Allen and Fred Borton, former American Legion players and the former Central High star, are back of the movement to give the East End a successful football team. Players are asked to turn out for the initial meeting Sunday are: Walter Scott, Eber Pettiford, Joe Anderson, Chic Smith, Henry Jackson, Fred Borton, Allen Borton, Clifford Marsh, John Thomas, Oscar Cunigan, "Sleepy" Buford, Eugene Haines, George Jamison and Walter Harris.

SEVENTY GOLFERS ENTER OHIO OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP

Cincinnati, Oct. 5.—Seventy of the state's best golfers met here today in the opening rounds of the Ohio Open championship tournament. The tournament is being played at the Losantville Country Club. It consists of 72 holes of medal play. Thirty-six holes will be played today and 36 tomorrow.

Emmett French of Youngstown, who captured the championship last year, will defend his title. In practice yesterday he played the first nine holes of the course in 34. two under par.

The pairings for today were drawn by lot but will be made tomorrow according to the similarity in scores.

XENIA COACH WILL PLAY WITH DAYTON TRIANGLES, IS SAID

Earl "Puss" Burgner coach of the Central High School football team, will play quarterback for the Dayton Triangles, member of the Independent Football League during the rest of the season starting a week from Sunday.

This was announced Friday after Carl "Scummy" Sterck manager of the Triangle team and Dellinger who has played guard on that eleven several years, came here and induced Burgner who affixed his signature to a Triangle contract. He will not play Sunday so that he will be given time to learn the signals and perfect his play.

"Puss" was an All-Ohio Conference quarterback a couple of years ago when he piloted Coach King Godfrey's Wittenberg eleven. He was a star when "Wib" Etter, Bill Lange and others were springing into fame, and many fans believe that Etter owes considerable of his success to the little quarterback.

Since leaving school Burgner has played with the Akron Mutes and the Akron Pros. The Triangles have been up in the air since Al Mahrt gave up the game and left Dayton. Abbott, a Syracuse man, has been used at the position but in casting about for someone to take Mahrt's place, the Triangle management hit on "Puss." Fans here will watch his progress with the big team during the games to come.

BACON TO REFEREE INSTEAD OF REESE

Dr. Dave Reese, popular official who has handled Central High School home football games for three years, will probably be absent from the role of official Friday afternoon when the locals entertain West Milton High.

The game was scheduled for late, and Reese will find it impossible to be here for the festivities. Instead he is sending Bacon, former Wabash star, and crack backfield man of the Dayton Triangles, who also rates as an Ohio Conference official. The game starts at three o'clock.

SAFETY DIRECTOR ACCUSED

Columbus, Oct. 5.—A delegation of Canton citizens bearing complaints against Safety Director Edward E. Curtis of Canton, against whom charges of failure to enforce the prohibition laws had been filed, appeared before Governor Donahey. The latter reserved his decision with reference to calling a formal hearing on the charges.

FARM NEWS OF GREENE COUNTY

STATE AID FARMERS' INSTITUTES WILL BE HELD IN COUNTY DURING WINTER

An interesting program of speakers has been prepared for the series of State Aid Farmers' Institutes scheduled to be held over the county this winter. In addition to the State Aid Institutes, a number of independent institutes will be held, it is announced by County Farm Bureau Agent Ford S. Prince. One of the latter institutes will be held at Beavercreek, January 7 and 8.

The first State aid meeting is scheduled for Yellow Springs, January 9 and 10. The three others will be Bath Township, January 11 and 12; Jamestown, January 23 and 24 and Bellbrook, February 6 and 7.

Their scope broadened this year and designed for village business men, lawyers and preachers as well as for farmers, state aid institutes will begin October 29 and continue to the latter part of February over the state. Last year, despite the epidemic of influenza 325,000 attended the 352 two-day sessions held in every county in Ohio.

Though still farmers' institutes in name, their function this year will be that of community conventions, where the problems of church and school may be considered along with those of marketing and production of farm products, and where the interests of all in the community may be discussed, according to F. L. Allen, state supervisor of the institutes.

DEVOTIONS START AT CATHOLIC CHURCH

Devotion of the Forty Hours will open in St. Brigid's Church Sunday morning at the ten o'clock Mass, according to announcement of the Rev. A. A. Burke, pastor.

The solemn services will come to a close Tuesday evening, with special services at 7:30 o'clock at which time it is expected a number of visiting prelates will assist in the services.

All three days of the special devotions will be general Communion days for the entire congregation. Masses will be at the usual time Sunday and there will be two Masses each on Monday and Tuesday at the hours of five and 7:30 o'clock in the morning.

Itinerant speakers controlled from Ohio State University will be available for the four state aid institutes in each of the 88 counties. The meetings will take place in country school-houses as a rule. Independent farmers institutes, arranged by the several communities without the aid of the state university and generally carried on by local talent, will begin early in November.

Farmers' institutes began about 45 years ago as occasional gatherings led by men from the state university. Gradually increasing in popularity and extent, they were taken over by Mr. Allen about 8 years ago.

DIES OF INJURIES RECEIVED IN AUTO ACCIDENT, FRIDAY

As the result of injuries he received in an automobile accident near Jamestown three weeks ago, Frank Kelly, 65, of Jamestown, died at the McClellan hospital in this city, Friday morning at 7:45 o'clock. The body was taken to the Nagley Funeral Home on Market Street, in preparation for its removal to the Kelly home in Jamestown.

Mr. Kelly and his wife, were both injured seriously Friday evening, September 14, when the Ford coupe in which they were riding ran off the road near the Ross Township School, on the Charleston pike, near Jamestown, crashed into a tree and caught fire.

Mr. Kelly received serious burns about both legs, from the knees down, when fire starting from the motor spread to the interior of the coupe. He also sustained two broken ribs and other injuries. He was attended by physicians at his home until two weeks ago, when he was brought to the McClellan Hospital.

Mrs. Kelly is still in a serious condition from a broken right wrist, a fractured collar bone, and one fractured rib, besides receiving deep gashes over her body from flying glass and severe bruises and contusions.

Mr. Kelly was employed as a plumber in Jamestown. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Wren Kelly, of Jamestown, his wife, who was before her marriage to Mr. Kelly, Mrs. Seth Collett and four step-sons.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

STRUCK BY AUTO WOMAN SERIOUSLY INJURED THURSDAY

Mrs. John Gordon, 58, of 12 Columbus Avenue, is still unconscious at Espey Hospital following injuries received when she was struck by an automobile at 8:15 o'clock, Thursday night.

Dr. Paul D. Espey, attending the injured woman, is still unable to determine if she is suffering from a fractured skull or contusions. A blow on the head caused the most serious injury and there are no broken bones.

Raymond Tribbey, 111 Fayette street, driver of the automobile, told police she became frightened and ran directly in front of his machine. He said it was impossible to avoid striking her. Police investigation showed that the brakes on Tribbey's car are in good order.

The accident happened in front of the Ary Motor Sales Company, South Detroit street. Mrs. Gordon started across the street, but seeing the approaching automobile, turned to regain the curb she had left. In doing so, it is said she ran directly into the path of the car. Tribbey was unable to dodge the pedestrian or to stop his machine. He was accompanied by two other youths.

They took Mrs. Gordon to Espey Hospital and later reported to Police. Her condition is said to be serious and she had numerous hemorrhages after the accident.

MERGE SYNODS OF CHURCH AT MEET

The Rev. E. W. Moyer, pastor of the Beaver Reformed Church, has returned from Canton, Ohio where he attended the annual meeting of the Ohio Synod, which extended from September 8 until October 2.

An important feature of the meeting was the merger of Central and Ohio Synods into one Synod to be known as the Ohio Synod. The Ohio Synod was divided into seven classes, the merger meaning that the German Synod congregations and the English congregations are no longer separate but united.

Beaver Reformed Church is one of the nine churches of Ohio Synod on the Forward Movement Honor Roll, having paid 55 per cent or more of their Forward Movement Quota to date.

A WIFE'S STORY

By Jane Phelps

THE JOY OF POSSESSION

Chapter XLV

"Well, Ruby, I have found a house!" Paul burst into the room where I was sitting, "when can you go down with me and see what furniture we need?" "Where is it, Paul?" I was but little less excited than he. "And did you rent or buy?"

"You bought it! Here's the deed." Paul tossed a long envelope onto the table. "It isn't all paid for. I had to leave the mortgage on it, but you can pay that off after a while."

I had drawn some legal looking papers from the envelope too dazed to quite understand. Then I saw. The house had been bought in my name. I at last owned a home. Tears filled my eyes. No one can realize what this meant to me, owning something.

"Come now, don't be foolish," Paul urged. "Get on your things and we'll go right down."

"Down where?" I asked laughing a bit hysterically.

"Long Island, on the sound. I found the place, just suits me, and so thought I would give you a little surprise."

"You have succeeded all right," I told him, then went into raptures because we at last had a home of our own.

"I never dreamed you were doing so well, could buy a home so soon. I am very happy, Paul, happier than I can tell you."

"You may be disappointed when you see it," he teased.

"No—if it were but two rooms and it was ours I should feel just the same."

I replied, then dressed for the trip.

I was delighted with the house, not a large one, seven rooms. But the grounds sloped down to the water and there were old trees in the front yard, shut in by a high hedge. The house was in good repair, would need very little done to make it wholly livable, and the view was delightful. I thought I never should tire of gazing at the calm silvery water, of working to make the tiny grounds more lovely. There was a small garage on the place and Paul said that after a while we would have a car.

I went from room to room with pencil and paper, making a list of things absolutely necessary to start house-keeping and living in our new home.

"I shall go with you for the furnishings," Paul told me, "otherwise your economical ideas will not let you furnish properly."

"We must go slow, Paul. We'll get only necessary things at first, then add others as we can." He only laughed at me said we should have our home fixed right from the first. "We'll buy everything in your name, and you keep the receipts. Then if anything should happen to me no one can take it away from you," he told me.

I was delighted with his thoughtfulness, thinking he referred to the possibility of dying. He looked the very picture of health and I laughingly told him so, adding that I would go long before he did.

"I was thinking more of business troubles than of death," he replied more seriously than was usual with him. "No one knows what may happen to a business, and I have determined to provide for a rainy day so far as I can."

I never had heard Paul talk this way before. He was surely changing, and for the better. I was wildly happy. To think he at last recognized his responsibilities, that it was because of this realization he was trying to safeguard me and the girls, filled me with joy and confidence in the future.

We spent several hours in our new home, then, with my lists completed, we returned to town, I so eager to tell the girls I could scarcely wait, Paul laughing at my impatience.

He left me at the station, pleading business, but saying we would spend the next day buying furniture, while I hurried home full of delighted anticipation because of the joy my news would bring to Laura and Joan.

Laura was crazy with delight but Joan wondered if she would find it "poky and dull" yet she also became enthused when I told her of the lovely little place and her father's promise of a car.

"I'll learn to drive and then I can come into town when I want to," she declared. But I was too happy to think there was anything to worry about in her careless words.

DONAHEY TELLS CRABBE HE IS PLAYING GAME

Governor Declares Attorney General Crabbe Take his Charges Against John McNamara, Assistant State Welfare Director, to the Delaware County Grand Jury for Investigation. The governor, replying to the attorney general's latest statement, accused him of being actuated by "cheap politics." The governor refused to investigate the claims of Attorney General Crabbe that McNamara was guilty of moral turpitude and other misconduct while assistant superintendent of the Girls' Industrial School, Delaware.

The governor also denied that the attorney general's statement, made Thursday that 204 inmates had escaped in the last three months, Governor Donahey said 116 run aways had occurred, and that all but seven of these girls have been returned.

Th fact that two different state boards of administration and a Republican Governor (Harry L. Davis) retained McNamara after he submitted his resignation, is a fair indication that nothing was wrong with McNamara's administration, the governor said.

Columbus, Oct. 5.—Attorney General Crabbe renewed his demand on Governor Donahey for an investigation of the charges filed against Assistant State Welfare Director John McNamara. Charges against McNamara were filed by Crabbe with the governor Aug. 30. No action has been taken since then by the governor.

Crabbe in his second letter says: "Conditions at the Girls' Industrial school have become so deplorable that I am urged by many to again call your attention to this matter, with the hope that you will realize how serious the situation is and do something for the unfortunate girls of this institution."

SOCIALISTS TO LOSE FIGHT IN GERMAN CABINET

Stresemann Seeks Far-
Reaching Powers in
His Activities

Berlin, Oct. 5.—The Socialists will be thrown overboard in the new German cabinet.

It also appears most likely that Dr. Stresemann will try to return at the head of a small cabinet clothed with almost dictatorial power, and that the reichstag will be sent about its business.

The provisional list of the new cabinet as it stands at this time is: Chancellor and foreign minister, Dr. Stresemann; defense and interior, Dr. Hugo Gessler; labor, Herr Brauns; finance and economics, Dr. Hans Luther; food administrator, Von Oppen; posts and railways, Herr Heinrichs.

Von Oppen is chairman of the union of agriculturists and stands near to the German Nationalists. Heinrichs is general director of the Deutsche Werke and a noted organizer.

As soon as his list is complete Stresemann plans to submit it to the reichstag, without consulting any of the parties, and request the passage of a law conferring far-reaching powers on the new cabinet. Such a law would be equivalent to amending the constitution and hence would require a two-thirds vote.

The Socialists and Communists together could block such a vote, but Stresemann believes he has secured the virtual assurance of 54 Socialists, who refused to vote against him Wednesday, that they will refrain from voting. This would assure the passage of the dictatorship law, which he will ask.

Whatever the outcome, one thing is certain: The political tide nearly everywhere in Germany is setting strongly to the right. This is due in part to the growing feeling that German parliamentarism has failed, and in part to the uncompromising adherence by the Socialists to their dogmas. The attitude of the Socialists is largely dictated by the realization that a surrender of their principles would cause many of their numbers to flee to the Communists.

In view of the fact that only 115 of the total of 173 Socialists in the reichstag voted Wednesday and the majority against the cabinet was only seven, efforts were made toward a reconstitution of the former coalition. The Socialists balked entirely. The People's party also objected, since the strong statement in their ranks is for participation in the government by the German Nationalists.

Bavaria's uncompromising declaration of war on Marxism has plainly strengthened the war on socialism everywhere. It is learned that there is increasing sentiment in Wurttemberg for a new state cabinet, with Nationalists and without Socialists, and possibly also without Democrats.

LITTLE STIR IS CREATED BY NEWS

London, Oct. 5.—Newspapers took the news of Ambassador Harvey's retirement calmly. It apparently created no great impression here.

The colonel has made a great many friends in London but in the main he has been too outspoken to become a great popular figure with the English as was the late Walter Hines Page.

It is even probable that high officials of the British government are rather secretly pleased at the going of the picturesque colonel. Some of the Colonel's methods of diplomacy have merited the description of "rough shod," so much so that the English would welcome an ambassador from the United States, who would not tread so heavily upon custom and precedent.

LYDD GEORGE IS GIVEN ROUSING WELCOME TO U. S.

New York, Oct. 5.—A distinguished tourist, Hon. David Lloyd George, M. P. landed upon the American shore at noon today and received a welcome such as has been given by Americans to no commoner.

All along the route Lloyd George stood, waving his tall hat, smiling his infectious smile in response to the greetings.

From early morning when the Mauritania anchored off quarantine, Lloyd George was the center of a pushing throng and the object of honor.

"I am here to see America and the Americans," Lloyd George said in his first statement for the people of the United States.

"I bring no messages. I have no questions to propound or discuss. To do that would be presumptuous of me. I hope to see the country and to talk to the people."

"And," he added a bit wistfully, "I hope they will like me."

The photographers found him and over the protests of his special representative Sir Alfred Cope, and one of two others of the nobility in his party, rushed him up a steep ladder to the upper deck where he posed for numerous "stills" and hundreds of feet of movies.

Dame Margaret Lloyd George, his wife and Miss Megan Lloyd George, his daughter, then posed for the camera men and it is doubtful if they ever before received so many orders.

"Smile Mr. Lloyd George—take off your hat—step over here please—just one more shot. These and a dozen other commands were met by the distinguished trio while the former premier of the British empire was with the reporters word was brought that the municipal steamship Macon with the mayor's committee of welcome had arrived alongside.

DEMAND ARREST IN WEBB CASE; AWAIT REPORT

Fight is Carried to Governor by Friends of Dead Woman

New York, Oct. 5.—The fight for an arrest in the death of Mrs. Gertrude Gorman Webb, who is said to have been poisoned, has been carried to Albany by friends of the dead woman, who will ask Governor Smith to intervene in the investigation.

The friends of Mrs. Webb base their action on the fact that they claim Mrs. Webb, after she had been told she was dying, had made a statement that she had been poisoned and named the person who had given her the poison.

It is said that when Dr. William J. Meyer told Mrs. Webb she was dying she called to her the woman nurse, Mrs. Robert F. Johnstone, a friend since girlhood, and Dr. Meyer and in their presence made the statement she had been poisoned. It is held by legal advisers of the friends of the dead woman that this constituted a binding dying declaration within the intent of the law and that an arrest should follow. If the district attorney of Westchester county does not order an arrest, Governor Smith will be asked to act, as he did in the Ward case, they said.

The governor said he thought it was going to be a too common practice, the asking of the state to intervene in cases where the district attorney is empowered to act, but that he would take up the matter with Mrs. Webb's relatives and friends.

The complete report of Dr. Alexander Gettler, who examined the viscera of Mrs. Webb, and discovered traces of poison, will be given to the Westchester county grand jury probably Monday, when it will be made public. His examination so far has revealed poison, but not enough to have caused death.

It was announced also that Dr. Meyer, Mrs. Johnstone, Judge and Mrs. John F. McIntyre, George Taylor, A. B. Edgar, Francis Irwin, Dr. Ernest F. Krug and Dr. Davenport West, all of New York, will be called as witnesses before the grand jury. "I want every possible witness to give every possible fact about this peculiar case to the grand jury," District Attorney Rowland said.

TAFT EXPLAINS TAX ACT UP FOR VOTE

Columbus, Oct. 5.—Taft taxation bill, which will be voted on in a referendum at the November election, was explained and defended by its author, Representative Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati, at a meeting of the Roosevelt Republican club here. Purposes of the Taft bill, its author said, are: Restriction of the high cost of government by limiting expenditures, intelligent restriction of expenditures through budget control, a pay-as-you-go plan with respect to incurring public debts, a wider home rule as to current taxation.

the unanimous opinion of the press," the decision had been changed; that "Young" Stribling won. Today after a night of exultation, these same fans found that again the decision had been changed and that the two battlers fought to a draw.

Ertle declared he was "intimidated" by promoters of the fight and that he would never have left the ring alive had he not awarded victory to the 19-year-old boy. He charged that one of the leading promoters freed him to hold up Stribling's hand as conqueror.

The fight was a poor exhibition of championship material and the challenger led easily in eight of the ten rounds, Ertle said. "Stribling is a good fighter and a return battle would easily settle the argument." But Joe Jacobs and McTigue left town too quickly to figure on the proposed fight.

When the gong announced the end of the fight Ertle slightly raised both hands and rushed toward the ropes in an attempt to make a quick exit. He never left the platform as an angry growl went up from the thousands who saw the battle.

The handful of military police and city officers surrounding the ring were unable to keep the mob back. Ertle found himself surrounded on all sides by enraged fans demanding that he give the decision to Stribling.

The ring then was cleared long enough for a conference with the press. A vote gave a unanimous decision to the challenger and a formal announcement was made that "our boy has won."

The crowd was satisfied. "Young" Stribling, at the end of the final round, broke loose from a clinch with McTigue and watched the referee for his decision. When he heard it was a draw the school boy fell back against the rope with tears in his eyes. He then sat in his corner until the second change was made.

As he crawled through the ropes he was hailed as a "new champion," his mother was awaiting with "how are you, darling?"

"All right, mother, but looked like I wasn't going to get it, didn't it?"

McTigue left the ring as soon as possible after fight and did not make another appearance.

Monday will find "Strib" back in high school busy with his studies, as though nothing unusual had happened. He lost only one week in training for this, his greatest battle.

In the meantime local promoters have wired the New York boxing commission asking for an immediate investigation regarding Ertle, well known Jersey City referee; McTigue, and his manager, Jacobs. The telegram stated that 8,000 fans are declaring that the boy was winner.

LIQUOR SEIZED IN CINCINNATI STORAGE RAID

Booze Said to Belong to
W. H. Schmidlap of Queen City.

Cincinnati, Oct. 5.—Federal prohibition agents late yesterday raided a storage warehouse of the Cincinnati Moving Company and seized 400 bottles of imported liquors alleged to belong to W. H. Schmidlap of this city, son of the late Jacob Schmidlap, president of the Union Trust and Savings company. The agents said the liquor had been stored with certain household goods for a year and a half.

Albert Kipp, proprietor of the Warehouse, is alleged to have told the agents that the rent for the storage space has been paid by Lawrence Maxwell, noted attorney, and Froome Morris, vice mayor who, December 14, 1922 were appointed guardians of W. H. Schmidlap as a result of action taken by Schmidlap's wife, who said her husband was incompetent to handle his affairs because of intemperance.

Mr. Maxwell and Mr. Morris said they knew nothing of the removal of Schmidlap's liquor to the warehouse. At the same time Schmidlap's liquor was seized, the agents confiscated sixteen barrels and twenty one cases of what is believed to be whiskey and "cut" alcohol which, Kipp is alleged to have told the officers was stored in the warehouse by a man who gave his name as James Lindsey of Indianapolis, Ind., three months ago.

FORGED LIQUOR BLANKS OUT

Columbus, Oct. 5.—Federal Prohibition Director J. E. The signatures of the physicians on the prescription blanks are forged and the druggists are urged to scrutinize the signatures carefully.

CHILD KILLED

MACHINE GUNS POUR FIRE INTO PRISON

TENDER THEIR RESIGNATIONS

GEORGE HARVEY

The State Department announced Thursday that Mr. Harvey and Mr. Child, Ambassadors to Great Britain and Italy, respectively, had tendered their resignations.

William Phillips Under Secretary of State, announced that both resignations were in accord with an understanding reached with President Harding and indicated that there was no connection between them and anything that has taken place during the Coolidge administration.

In other words, it was said that both Ambassadors would have returned to the United States under the agreement they had with the former Chief Executive.

HARVEY'S LOVE OF POLITICS CAUSED HIS RESIGNATION

London, Oct. 5.—The outstanding motive behind the retirement of Colonel George Harvey as ambassador to the Court of St. James is his desire to be on the ground and have a hand in the pre-convention jockeying that will precede the selection of a Republican nominee for the presidency next year. His friends here have no doubt this.

When he returned from the United States a few weeks ago, Colonel Harvey was accompanied by Will H. Hays, director of the Harding campaign and the two have spent much time in going over the political situation that has developed since the death of Mr. Harding.

Both Harvey and Hays, it is said, are inclined to believe President Coolidge is the logical Republican candidate but thus far they have not committed themselves and in all probability will not do so for some time yet. They are more fearful of a split in the party than of any other one thing.

Three months' vacation at home, during which Colonel Harvey saw and conferred with many leading Republicans, convinced him that some careful diplomacy would be required if the Republican party is to escape an internal row that might be fatal to its chances of success next year.

BEETHAM IS YET SILENT ON RACE

Cadiz, O., Oct. 5.—Rupert R. Beetham, former speaker of the Ohio house of representatives, is undecided whether he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor next year. This was indicated in a statement given out here in which he commented on the possibilities for the 1924 race. He was a candidate for the Republican nomination in 1922.

MUTE BURNS TO DEATH

NO EXPENSE TO BE SPARED TO EVICT FELONS

Convicts Surrounded By Hail of Bullets in Kentucky Prison

BELIEVE TWO DEAD

Additional Troops Re-In-
force Units Storming
Hall.

State Penitentiary, Eddyville, Ky., Oct. 5.—State militiamen trying to capture three barricaded convicts with showers of machine gun bullets were preparing this forenoon to lay down a barrage under cover of which several men were to creep up with dynamite to tumble down the building where the felons were entrenched. The dynamite has already arrived.

Staff Penitentiary, Eddyville, Ky., Oct. 5.—"Spare no expense or property damage," was the message of Governor Morrow which came today with additional national guard troops to the battle now in its third day against three desperate felons barricaded in the dining room of the prison. The building has been seised by machine gun fire in the effort to rout the slayers.

One of the embattled trio in the bullet ridden dining hall of the penitentiary—the one who ventured to the door at dusk last night and then dodged back before a burst of machine gun fire poured into the doorway—was believed holding out the siege alone at dawn today.

His companions are believed to have fallen before the relentless machine gun attack which has been pouring into them for forty-eight hours from four corners of the prison enclosure, making a war scarred pepper box of the dining hall and opening holes in its walls through which tear gas attacks will be renewed today.

Additional state troops from Mayfield today re-inforced the machine gun troops originally assigned to the prison after three guards' lives were claimed in the convicts' attempt to shoot their way to freedom Wednesday morning. One guard was killed outright, two died yesterday from their wounds. Two other wounded guards are expected to recover.

Eddyville is in a frenzy of excitement. The tattoo of the machine gun fire has beaten in recurrent waves for more than two days on their ears. The prison is a mile from town, but the roar of the fire has been plainly audible.

It was rumored today that a request might be made for army tanks, which could be sent to the door of the dining hall and an even heavier attack could be launched from the fighting tops of the cumbersome moving forts.

The resistance of the trio has dwindled to an occasional pater of bullets from automatic pistols, in return to the pattering of the machine gunners.

TAGGART WELL

Boston, October 5.—Thomas Taggart, former Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, who was brought to a hospital here last month after being taken ill at his summer home in Hyannisport, left the hospital yesterday. Accompanied by Mrs. Taggart, he boarded a train for New York where he plans to stay for several days before leaving for his home in French Lick Springs, Ind. He said he was "perfectly well."

WOMEN NEARLY PRECIPITATE RIOT

New York, Oct. 5.—A near riot occurred today in a crowd of about 3,000 persons grouped about City Hall to await the arrival of David Lloyd George, when a delegation of about fifty women appeared with printed signs attacking the ex-Premier and British policies.

Police tore the signs from the women's hands and dispersed them, but not before there was a general melee in which a number of persons were bruised and scratched.

The women bore placards identifying them as members of "American Society for freedom."

FALL FROM WAGON RESULTS FATALLY

H. H. Dice returned home Wednesday from Greenville where he was in attendance at the funeral services for his cousin, Edward Spahr, which were held Tuesday at the home in Greenville. Mr. Spahr, who was formerly a resident of this city and was well known here, was killed when he fell from a wagon on which he was riding. His neck was broken and death was almost instantaneous. He had turned the wagon out to the side of the road in passing an automobile and in turning the wagon back onto the road he lost his balance and fell to the ground.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Laura Fields and by five grand children. Mrs. Fields' husband was killed in the cyclone which struck Greenville a few years ago and since that time she and her children had made their home with her father.

Mr. Spahr was born and reared in this county and made his home here until about twenty years ago when he moved to Greenville. He has a large circle of relatives in this county.

The Rev. and Mrs. S. P. Green, of Springfield, the Rev. D. Wilson of Dayton and the Rev. J. Shepard were the visitors present at the meeting.

She will reside with her son-in-law and daughter, the Rev. and Mrs. Frank Mason. The Rev. W. W. Stevenson of Hillsboro, made a business call on the Missionary Bible School on Taylor Street, this week.

Only 5 Arcolas are allotted to Xenia

BECAUSE of the shortage of heating equipment, we have had to allot the available supply of ARCOLA outfits to cities and towns in proportion to their population. (An outfit consists of one ARCOLA and an American Radiator for each room.)

While they last, these outfits will be sold at these low prices, $180 to $550, completely installed, depending on the size and number of rooms in your home.

Think of the comfort of radiator warmth in every room for only a few hundred dollars! The few ARCOLA outfits allotted here for ARCOLA WEEK (next week) will go very quickly. Don't shiver through another winter. See your Heating Contractor and ask him for an estimate today.

Look for this sign in your dealer's window. If your house is not warmed with radiators, ARCOLA will save 1/3 of your coal bill and pay for itself in from three to five years. It warms the room in which it stands and sends its healthful hot-water warmth through small pipes to an American Radiator in every other room.

Mr. George D. McMILLIN, switch-board operator for over fifteen years with the Bell Telephone company of Columbus, says: "While I have used Ka-di-ok but a short time I am thoroughly convinced it is a fine medicine, judging from the way it helped me."

"My stomach and liver were in bad shape; my system was all run down; had no appetite and felt nervous and all fagged out. "Seeing Ka-di-ok advertised I decided to try it, believing that the medicine that had helped so many others would benefit me. I now know that I made no mistake in trying Ka-di-ok. After two weeks' treatment I feel fine; I have a good appetite and sleep soundly through the night and my stomach trouble has all gone."

"I am very much gratified at the way Ka-di-ok helped me and am proud to recommend it to all my friends and acquaintances who may be feeling as I did."

Ka-di-ok is an herbal remedy, good for grown-ups, or children, and can be taken to excellent advantage as a tonic during all seasons of the year. It is especially beneficial in cases of stomach, liver and kidney trouble, rheumatism, nervousness, loss of appetite, insomnia, faulty circulation, and the after effects of influenza.

FANNING CONCERT PLEASES LARGE CROWD

Xenia music lovers were afforded a rare treat Thursday evening when Mr. Cecil Fanning, Columbus baritone, appeared in concert at the City Hall Theater.

Possessed of a truly beautiful voice and a most pleasing personality, Mr. Fanning won his hearers with his first group of songs and was able to hold the appreciation which they elicited throughout his entire program.

Perhaps the greatest enthusiasm was accorded the group of ranch folk songs which were charmingly sung. Attired in the smock of a French working man, Mr. Fanning gave free scope to his really remarkable dramatic ability and delighted his hearers by the sympathy and spirit with which he rendered the quaint old songs.

The two ballads, "Tom the Rhymer" and "The Erlking," both with musical settings by Loewe, also afforded Mr. Fanning opportunity to display his dramatic ability, his interpretation of "The Erlking," being truly remarkable. Less familiar to most hearers probably than the Schubert setting, the Loewe interpretation of Goethe's well-known ballad is gripping in its intensity of feeling and this Mr. Fanning brought to his hearers in a remarkable manner.

Mr. Fanning's voice possesses much sweetness and delicacy as well as great volume of tone and he sings with a great accuracy of pitch. His fine enunciation was a most pleasing feature of his singing and added greatly to the very varied program. Mr. H. B. Turpin, formerly Mr. Fanning's teacher, played his accompaniments in a very sympathetic manner and added greatly to the program.

MOCK WEDDING ENJOYED AT LODGE PROGRAM

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Norris, who celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary last Saturday, were the principals in another ceremony, Thursday night, when the members of Phoenix Rebekah Lodge, No. 74, arranged a delightful program in their honor at the lodge hall, featured by re-marriage of the honor guests.

Seventy members of the lodge and their families, witnessed the "wedding." Mrs. A. C. McCormick acted as matron of honor, attired in white and carrying a huge bouquet of yellow zinnias, tied with yellow ribbon. She led the "bride" to the altar, attended by Mrs. D. E. Crow, Mrs. Fred Snyder, Mrs. B. F. Thomas, and Mrs. E. R. Richards, acting as bridesmaids. Mrs. C. V. Patterson came next, bearing the lodge's gift to the bride, a set of golden iridescent glass, consisting of a flower bowl, candle holders, with golden candles.

The bridal "procession" was met at the altar, by the officiating "clergyman" Mr. D. E. Crow, who performed a unique and humorous ceremony, pledging the couple with a metal ring, placed on the thumb of the bride. Mrs. Russell Halstead played the wedding march.

After the wedding, Mrs. Norris took the part of the principal character, in a clever playlet, "The Inflation of Virginia." Mrs. H. W. Cleaver, Mrs. C. V. Patterson, Mrs. Fred Snyder, and Mrs. A. C. McCormick took other parts in the playlet.

The evening's program opened with a covered dish dinner at six o'clock.

NOBLER WORDS THAN THESE WERE SELDOM SPOKEN.

The following address was delivered at the opening session of the annual convention of the American Red Cross in Washington by President Coolidge:

The American Red Cross is a modern application of an ancient principle. The idea of charity is very old. It is included in the teachings of the earliest philosophers. It is one of the fundamental doctrines of our Bible. It is a spiritual conception of human relationship. It is life in obedience to the things that are unseen.

Throughout history men have been prone to put their trust in other things and have failed. They have sought for power through material resources alone. They have thought it might be gained by the accumulation of great riches. They have attempted to rely upon the naked force of armies and navies, conquering by the might of the sword. But these forces are not the ultimate rulers of mankind. They are necessary for security, as police and criminal courts, and bolts and bars are necessary. They are adjuncts of peace. But they are negative forces. They do not create, they resist. They are not the ultimate force in the world. They do not make the final determinations among men. Over them all is a higher power.

Mankind has not yet, can not yet, discard the use of these forces. It is significant, however, that the great nations have at last agreed upon their limitation. But it is even more significant that civilization is coming to rely more and more upon moral force. It is because the Red Cross has been a practical application of that principle, that it has been such a tremendous success. It makes its appeal for support directly to the conscience of mankind. It does not attempt to function through the direct action of organized government. It does not have in it any element of compulsion. It is the voluntary offering of the people themselves. Whenever and wherever an emergency has resulted in human suffering, to the extent of its ability it administers whatever may be necessary for temporary relief.

It is in this direction that there lies the hope of real progress. The ancient ideals of human brotherhood, of service, the application of the golden rule, of peace on earth and good will toward men, are idle dreams, unless they can be translated into practical action. It is necessary, on the one hand, to avoid the illusions of the visionaries, and on the other hand, the indifference of the selfish. Individuals and nations owe their first duty to themselves. Beyond that, there is the obligation of the strong to serve the weak, but to administer such service in a way that will not destroy or degrade by making mendicants, but will restore and strengthen by making character. It is the policy which helps in an emergency, but realizes that, finally, each individual and each nation must work out its own destiny.

The constant need of civilization is for a practical idealism of this kind. It does not attempt to perform the impossible. It does not seek to reform merely by an act of legislation, thinking that it can unload its burden on the government and be relieved from further effort. It does not undertake to assume responsibility for all humanity. But it realizes that redemption comes only through sacrifice. When a crisis arises, it does not hesitate to go out and make whatever sacrifice is necessary to master the occasion.

It is this kind of practical idealism that is represented in the history of our country, a deep faith in spiritual things, tempered by a hard common sense adapted to the needs of this world. It has been illustrated in the character of the men who planted colonies in the wilderness and raised up great states around the church and the schoolhouse, who bought their independence with their blood and cast out slavery by the sacrifice of their bravest sons; who offered their lives to give more freedom to oppressed peoples; and who went to the rescue of Europe with their treasure and their men when their own liberty and the liberty of the world was in peril, but when the victory was secure, retired from the field unencumbered by spoils, independent, unattached and unbought, still continuing to contribute lavishly to the relief of the stricken and destitute of the Old World; and who, but recently, being asked for five million dollars, immediately gave about twice that amount for the afflicted people of Japan. Such has been the moral purpose that has marked the conduct of our country up to the present hour. The American people have never adopted, and are not likely to adopt, any other course.

A contemplation of these principles and the works which they have wrought, both in our country and among the other nations for this spirit is world-wide is helpful and reassuring. They are among the convincing evidences that justify our faith in mankind. They reveal the fundamental strength of civilization. They demonstrate the supremacy of the spiritual life.

Here we behold the race struggling up through barbarism, overcoming ignorance, establishing order, instituting government, painfully working out its own destiny under free institutions, acknowledging and accepting the truths of religion, gradually casting aside selfishness, endowing the great charities which heal the body, inform the mind and minister to the soul, making on every hand unending sacrifices that the truth may be supreme. Such is the strength of the influence of which this organization is one of the representatives. It is inconceivable that it could have come thus far only to retreat, that it could have succeeded up to the present time only to fail.

These are the encouraging, the hopeful things of the world. While it is necessary to admit that progress has been slow, that there have been, and undoubtedly will be, many disheartening failures, I believe the conclusion to be inescapable that there is every warrant for confidence. The encouraging feature of these results lies in the fact that they come from the voluntary actions of the people. They are not mandates from privilege, they are not imposed from without; they arise from within, they disclose the conquering, the victorious struggle of a higher nature. They do not represent a law of man, they reveal a law of God.

It is for these reasons that I take a large satisfaction in extending a welcome to this convention and acting as its presiding officer. I respect it for what it has done and what it is.

I am mindful of its purpose and its origin. This organization had its beginnings in the day of Abraham Lincoln. It is representative of the dominant influence of his time. It partakes of his spirit. It shows the way to a larger freedom. Our country could secure no higher commendation, no greater place in history, than to have it correctly said that the Red Cross is truly American.

THE FRANKENSTEIN

1903-- Twenty Years Ago--1923

The managers of the Xenia Theological Seminary have received word that Mr. Marion Laurence of Toledo the general secretary, of the International Sabbath School Union, will be in Xenia in November to deliver five addresses before the Seminary students.

The list of bids for supplies at the O. S. and S. O. Home opened Sept. 19, have been tabulated and show that some close figuring has been done, especially in groceries. For example, Eavey and Co., was allowed the contract on granulated sugar at $242.50 with H. E. Schmidt bidding $43.50. There were several big bids on contracts.

It is "Chief" McCallister this week. Chief of Police Smith is spending a week at Camp at Jacoby's dam and officer McCallister is acting chief in his absence.

Mr. C. L. McClellan is in receipt of a very catchy ad of the Chicago and Alton railroad, representing "The Fencing Girl." He expects to hang it in the lobby of the Opera House.

Then add one quart of vinegar, let boil till tender, then add three cups of sugar, one-half cup of flour, six tablespoons of mustard, one tablespoon each of tumeric and celery seed, one pint more of vinegar, and let cook for ten minutes longer, stirring to prevent scorching."

Add to it the juice and pulp of four oranges and cook over mild heat till the rind is tender. Then add four pounds of peaches cut small (skins and stones removed) and let the mixture boil for a few minutes. Now measure it by cups and add to it an equal measurement of granulated sugar. Return all to the preserving kettle and let boil till thick, stirring frequently. Can while still hot in hot, sterilized glass jars.—W. H."

"Green Tomato Preserve: This is a good way to use up the little left-over green tomatoes found in almost every garden at the end of summer. Cut them in half and then into small pieces. Weigh and for each pound of the tomatoes add three-quarters of a pound of granulated sugar and one lemon thinly sliced. Put the sugar first into the preserving kettle with only just enough cold water to dissolve it, then add the tomatoes and lemons and let come to a boil; simmer gently till the tomatoes are transparent and the syrup thick. ## Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

When you are married there's one thing to do
If you're a peace-loving man
And a family jar is distressing to you;
Fall in with things she will plan.
If she asks in to dinner some folks you detest,
Just smile and be pleasant—You'll find it is best.

If she gets up a family picnic some day,
Which you'd rather she wouldn't, no doubt,
Don't try to persuade her you can't go away,
That good old excuse is worn out; It is better without any fuss to give in.
Just carry the baskets she'll hand you, and grin.

If to dances or operas or lectures on art
She proclaims her intention to go, Don't argue against it—Get ready to start,
Say "yes" when she's looking for "no."
If you want to keep peace with the wife of your dreams,
Go where she wills how'er painful it seems.

For most of us married men, early or late,
From experience learn to submit. We marry ourselves when the wife makes a date,
And do what we don't like a bit; For the sake of sweet peace we have ceased to protest.
We fall in with her plans for we've found it is best.

Today's Talk

You can't hurry past beauty and take much of it with you. Neither can you reach into a heart and just take therefrom samples of love or affection, loyalty, or devotion. You must give much, you must drink deep into truth, nature, character, or else you have to expect a loss of richness and understanding. As you look about you, life may appear very confused, but there is no confusion in nature. The trees or flowers are never in any special hurry to perform their tasks. They are given their special work to do and then patiently perform it.

How restful to sit beside a bed of wild daisies, or on the bank of some stream that ripples restfulness and beauty beneath the hangings of thick branches that wave in the wind and whisper to you as you play with their shadows across the moving waters.

Really to gain power from the out-of-doors you must come into its spirit and become a part of it. You must drink deep from its springs. And to gain from any gift you must drink deep of its meaning. "The gift without the giver," says Lowell, "is bare."
In a way you must live the book you read, the painting you view, the scene that you select.
Someone has said that nothing is worth while without enthusiasm. Which is just another way of saying that we must drink deep of life itself and then rise from our refreshment to spread service far and wide.
It was Thoreau, I believe, who said that he would rather have a bird light on his shoulder than to have an epaulette placed there. This remarkable man drank deep. He gave new standing to rocks, birds, wild fowls, and every natural being.

TO PRESENT FACTS OF WILBERFORCE AT SPRINGFIELD

The history and work of Wilberforce University, will be taken up by speakers from the school at a meeting sponsored by the Clark County Ministerial Association at Memorial Hall, Springfield Sunday night.

The meeting is held for the expressed purpose of presenting facts relative to the university and will be featured by a chorus of university students, who will present spirituals, jubilees, melodies and other selections. The musical program will commence at 7:30 o'clock and the addresses at 8:15. Springfield churches will unite in attending the service.

The completion of the new Shorter Hall at Wilberforce is expected within two months. The hall will provide 26 class rooms, dormitory space for 444 students, a chapel capable of seating 2,500 and a dining hall that will accommodate 1,000 at a time. The building is expected to relieve the unfortunate situation of the last year when students who applied during the year for admittance could not be accommodated and about 500 were turned away. To date all applicants have been admitted although the institution is now overcrowded.

Women
to attract must
Radiate Health!

BEAUTY is the magnet which draws all eyes—and back o beauty—Health—working silently—Red blood tingling through the veins—the glow of youth in the cheeks—the spring of eagerness, of vim, o vitality in the walk—the ever graceful air, unrestrained by care or worry—All the charms of beauty. All the works of health.

Men are fascinated by the charm of beauty. Women gaze with envy secretly jealous, perhaps—wondering—hoping—praying for that attractiveness that is not theirs.

But why the wondering—the hoping—the praying for that craved-for attractiveness—that beauty. Good looks is the barometer of one's condition. Good health radiates beauty. S. S. S. purifies the blood—creates new red blood cells—rids the system of impurities which make beauty and attractiveness impossible. As women to attract must radiate health so must they keep their systems free from impurities and their red blood cells ever increasing. S. S. S. does both.

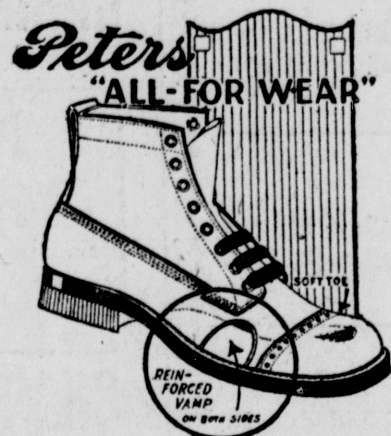

S. S. S., since 1826, has been ridding the system of impurities—pimples, blackheads, boils, eczema and rheumatism—building red blood cells—adding women to be attractive by radiating health. S. S. S. is made of carefully selected herbs and barks scientifically prepared and proportioned. All good drug stores carry S. S. S. It is more economical to purchase the large size bottle.

Grid-Dust

By Ray Higgins

This story concerns the promising aspects of a boy who is playing on the Central High School football squad. It is designed to honor a lad who believes in giving his best in the game or in practice, who plays hard and fiercely all of the time and whose ability so far gives assurance that he will help to make gridiron history at Central High School during the seasons to come.

The player who is thus being honored is Fred Scurry, who is so far performing at left tackle for Coach Earl Burgner's blue and white eleven, and who is doing his job well. Scurry is well built, but well constructed for speed, of which he makes excellent use. He runs well with the ball when called to a backfield position and can punt fairly.

He has large hands, Scurry, and perhaps if football players were permitted to select their natural accoutrements for the game, large hands would not be far down on the list. Scurry's large hands enable him to get such a grip on the ball, that he can throw the usually unwieldy leather as skillfully as a baseball for 50 yards or more.

The large hands also enable Scurry to play his position in the manner and form that it should be played. With his huge hands, which he keeps in action and the wonderful driving power he has back of them, he is enabled to brush the opposing end out of his way in crashing into a play. He is ever alert to sense which way the ball is going and frequently gets his man on the opposite side of the line.

And so this is the story of Scurry, but the best of the story has not been told. It is this: Scurry is only a sophomore.

If Coach Gauthier of Ohio Wesleyan has anything up his sleeve this season fans will be in on the know after the game with Ohio State, Saturday.

It is whispered about the Ohio Conference that the Methodist gang will not be the soft spot some of the other teams have rated it. Conference rulings and graduation played havoc with the Wesleyan championship eleven of last year and it is undoubtedly that the graduation of Captain Olin Smith, and Ballinger and the ruling against "Sonny" Winters, his brother and other luminaries, greatly hurt the Methodists.

However, it is said Gauthier has developed another startling combination, depending on a weighty line, and a small, but fast backfield. A practically all the backfield men are veterans, more can be expected from Wesleyan than the poor mouth the Methodists have been putting up would indicate. If this is a fact it will be shown against the Wilcemen Saturday.

It is conceivable however that Miami and Wittenberg will furnish the home stretch thrill for the Conference this year. If that is to be the case, a line on the relative merits of these teams may be gathered Saturday. Miami beat Georgetown, K.Y., four touchdowns last week and the Lutherans meet the same team this week end. Wittenberg will have no trouble with Georgetown, but the score should furnish an interesting sidelight. Miami will be idle, the Antioch game having been cancelled.

Nether of these teams need expect much opposition from northern Ohio aggregations. Coach Holtkamp's second year at Western Reserve finds

XENIA COACH WILL PLAY WITH DAYTON TRIANGLES, IS SAID

Earl "Puss" Burgner coach of the Central High School football team, will play quarterback for the Dayton Triangles, member of the Independent Football League during the rest of the season starting a week from Sunday. This was announced Friday after Carl "Scummy" Storck manager of the Triangle team and Dellinger who has played guard on that eleven several years, came here and induced Burgner who affixed his signature to a Triangle contract. He will not play Sunday so that he will be given time to learn the signals and perfect his play.

"Puss" was an All-Ohio Conference quarterback a couple of years ago when he piloted Coach King Godfrey's Wittenberg eleven. He was a star when "Wib" Etter, Bill Lange and others were springing, into fame, and many fans believe that Etter owes considerable of his success to the little quarterback.

Since leaving school Burgner has played with the Akron Mutes and the Akron Pros. The Triangles have been up in the air since Al Mahrt gave up the game and left Dayton. Abbott, a Syracuse man, has been used at the position but in casting about for someone to take Mahrt's place, the Triangle management hit on "Puss." Fans here will watch his progress with the big team during the games to come.

BACON TO REFEREE INSTEAD OF REESE

Dr. Dave Reese, popular official who has handled Central High School home football games for three years, will probably be absent from the role of official Friday afternoon when the locals entertain West Milton High. The game was scheduled for late, and Reese will find it impossible to be here for the festivities. Instead he is sending Bacon, former Wabash star, and crack backfield man of the Dayton Triangles, who also rates as an Ohio Conference official. The game starts at three o'clock.

SAFETY DIRECTOR ACCUSED

Columbus, Oct. 5.—A delegation of Canton citizens bearing complaints against Safety Director Edward E. Curtis of Canton, against whom charges of failure to enforce the prohibition laws had been filed, appeared before Governor Donahey. The latter reserved his decision with reference to calling a formal hearing on the charges.

PROPOSE TO PLACE EAST END FOOTBALL TEAM IN THE FIELD

Organization of an all-colored independent football team is now being attempted and plans for the new eleven will be laid at a meeting of players at Dickerson Park Sunday morning.

Allen and Fred Borton, former American Legion players and the former a Central High star, are back of the movement to give the East End a successful football team. Players are asked to turn out for the initial meeting Sunday are: Walter Scott, Eber Peterson, Joe Anderson, Chic Smith, Henry Jackson, Fred Borton, Allen Borton, Clifford Marsh, John Thomas, Oscar Cunigan, "Sleepy" Buford, Eugene Haines, George Jamison and Walter Harris.

EAST HIGH GRID CHANCES AIDED BY NEW EQUIPMENT

Football at East High School, now being introduced as a new school sport, has been given impetus by the donation of gridiron equipment valued at $100, according to announcement of Principal Arthur Taylor. Superintendent of Schools C. A. Waff, Business Manager John R. Beacham, J. W. Santmyer, president of the Board of Education, H. S. LeSourd, of the board's athletic committee and George Geyer of the Geyer Book Store, made possible the donation of uniforms and other paraphernalia necessary. Among the equipment donated was a new football for the team's first game.

DIES OF INJURIES RECEIVED IN AUTO ACCIDENT, FRIDAY

As the result of injuries he received in an automobile accident near Jamestown three weeks ago, Frank Kelly, 65, of Jamestown, died at the McClellan hospital in this city, Friday morning at 7:45 o'clock. The body was taken to the Nagley Funeral Home on 2nd Market Street, in preparation for its removal to the Kelly home in Jamestown.

Mr. Kelly and his wife, were both injured seriously Friday evening, September 14, when the Ford coupe in which they were riding ran off the road near the Ross Township School, on the Charleston pike, near Jamestown, crashed into a tree and caught fire.

Mr. Kelly received serious burns about both legs, from the knees down, when fire starting from the motor spread to the interior of the coupe. He also sustained two broken ribs and other injuries. He was attended by physicians at his home until two weeks ago, when he was brought to the McClellan Hospital.

Mrs. Kelly is still in a serious condition from a broken right wrist, a fractured collar bone, and one fractured rib, besides receiving deep gashes over her body from flying glass and severe bruises and contusions.

Mr. Kelly was employed as a plumber in Jamestown. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Wren Kelly, of Jamestown, his wife, who was before her marriage to Mr. Kelly, Mrs. Seth Collett and four step-sons.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

STRUCK BY AUTO WOMAN SERIOUSLY INJURED THURSDAY

Mrs. John Gordon, 58, of 12 Columbus Avenue, is still unconscious at Espey Hospital following injuries received when she was struck by an automobile at 8:15 o'clock, Thursday night.

Dr. Paul D. Espey, attending the injured woman, is still unable to determine if she is suffering from a fractured skull or contusions. A blow on the head caused the most serious injury and there are no broken bones.

Raymond Tribbey, 111 Fayette street, driver of the automobile, told police she became frightened and ran directly in front of his machine. He said it was impossible to avoid striking her. Police investigation showed that the brakes on Tribbey's car are in good order.

The accident happened in front of the Ary Motor Sales Company, South Detroit street. Mrs. Gordon started across the street, but seeing the approaching automobile, turned to regain the curb she had left. In doing so, it is said she ran directly into the path of the car. Tribbey was unable to dodge the pedestrian or to stop his machine. He was accompanied by two other youths.

They took Mrs. Gordon to Espey Hospital and later reported to Police. Her condition is said to be serious and she had numerous hemorrhages after the accident.

MERGE SYNODS OF CHURCH AT MEET

The Rev. E. W. Moyer, pastor of the Beaver Reformed Church, has returned from Canton, Ohio where he attended the annual meeting of the Ohio Synod, which extended from September 8 until October 2.

An important feature of the meeting was the merger of Central and Ohio Synods into one Synod to be known as the Ohio Synod. The Ohio Synod was divided into seven classes, the merger meaning that the German Synod congregations and the English congregations are no longer separate but united.

Beaver Reformed Church is one of the nine churches of Ohio Synod on the Forward Movement Honor Roll, having paid 55 per cent or more of their Forward Movement Quota to date.

A WIFE'S STORY

By Jane Phelps

THE JOY OF POSSESSION

Chapter XLV

"Well, Ruby, I have found a house!" Paul burst into the room where I was sitting, "when can you go down with me and see what furniture we need?"

"Where is it, Paul?" I was but little less excited than he. "And did you rent or buy?"

"You bought it! Here's the deed."

Paul tossed a long envelope onto the table. "It isn't all paid for. I had to leave the mortgage on it, but you can pay that off after a while."

I had drawn some legal looking papers from the envelope too dazed to quite understand. Then I saw. The house had been bought in my name. I at last owned a home. Tears filled my eyes. No one could realize what this meant to me, owning something.

"Come now, don't be foolish," Paul urged. "Get on your things and we'll go right down."

"Down where?" I asked laughing a bit hysterically.

"Long Island, on the sound. I found the place, just suits me, and so thought I would give you a little surprise."

"You have succeeded all right," I told him, then went into raptures because we at last had a home of our own.

"I never dreamed you were doing so well, could buy a home so soon. I am very happy, Paul, happier than I can tell you."

"You may be disappointed when you see it," he teased.

"No—if it were but two rooms and it was ours I should feel just the same!" I replied, then dressed for the trip.

I was delighted with the house, not a large one, seven rooms. But the grounds sloped down to the water and there were old trees in the front yard, shut in by a high hedge. The house was in good repair, would need very little done to make it wholly livable, and the view was delightful. I thought I never should tire of gazing at the calm silvery water, of working to make the tiny grounds more lovely.

There was a small garage on the place and Paul said that after a while we would have a car.

I went from room to room with pencil and paper, making a list of things absolutely necessary to start house-keeping and living in our new home.

"I shall go with you for the furnishings," Paul told me, "otherwise your economical ideas will not let you furnish properly."

"We must go slow, Paul. We'll get only necessary things at first, then add others as we can." He only laughed at me said we should have "our home fixed right from the first. "We'll buy everything in your name, and you keep the receipts. Then if anything should happen to me no one can take it away from you," he told me.

I was delighted with his thoughtfulness, thinking he referred to the possibility of dying. He looked the very picture of health and I laughingly told him so, adding that I would go long before he did.

"I was thinking more of business troubles than of death," he replied more seriously than was usual with him. "No one knows what may happen to a business, and I have determined to provide for a rainy day so far as I can."

I never had heard Paul talk this way before. He was surely changing, and for the better. I was wildly happy. To think he at last recognized his responsibilities, that it was because of this realization he was trying to safeguard me and the girls, filled me with joy and confidence in the future.

We spent several hours in our new home, then, with my lists completed, we returned to town, I so eager to tell the girls I could scarcely wait, Paul laughing at my impatience.

He left me at the station, pleading business, but saying we would spend the next day buying furniture, while I hurried home full of delighted anticipation because of the joy my news would bring to Laura and Joan.

Laura was crazy with delight but Joan wondered if she would find it "poky and dull" yet she also became enthused when I told her of the lovely little place and her father's promise of a car.

"I'll learn to drive and then I can come into town when I want to," she declared. But I was too happy to think there was anything to worry about in her careless words.
